Dear whom it may concern,

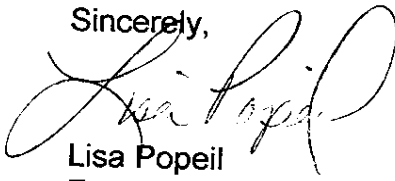

I have worked with Own Vision on Internet related projects for years. At every opportunity, they prove to be a dedicated and valuable piece of my team.

Prior to my introduction to Travis Giggy, I worked with several companies who failed to get my web site running. Travis and his company not only got my site online, but worked with my team to expand and improve it.

It is a rare breed who comes through on every promise made. When I pass a project across to Own Vision, it is almost a foregone conclusion: it will be completed on time. Often, it comes back under budget. When it comes to Internet marketing and programming, they are the highest caliber of professionals.

I often refer Own Vision to my friends and colleagues, and will continue to do so. I hope to work with this group of professionals for many years to come!

Sincerely,

Lisa Popeil
